Full Circle

Jesus said, "All power is given unto me...therefore go....make disciples", the ultimate goal of any ministry, to turn people's hearts to Jesus Christ and His truth. It has been exciting to see the small congregation of believers in Pueblo Nuevo come full circle. Once a target of outreach itself, individuals in this community came to know the Lord and believe in him. They've studied the Word, grown spiritually and are learning to exercise their gifts. During the past few months a small community called Pelingara, a smattering of rustic homes in a rural area 5 hours to the north, has been the targeted for evangelism. These same new believers are now taking the message they've believed and are sharing it with family and friends in that area. Every month 4 or 5 of the men go for two days to this impoverished little corner of Peru and preach the gospel. On the average about 60 people gather on Saturday afternoon and the group is divided up by ages. In the evening a gospel film is shown for everyone. Sunday morning is devoted to small group Bible studies in the various homes. We thank the Lord there have already been professions of faith in Pelingara. The congregation as a whole is learning to support the outreach with their prayers and offerings and rejoice in the news of the occurrences' upon the teams return. The Lord said, "I will build my church", and we rejoice in being part of that project.

Thank you for your continued prayers on our behalf.
