News of some of the Lord's work in Northern Peru

In the last week of October, Strong Tower Christian School celebrated its 11th year. One of the classic Peruvian celebrations involves an evening parade through the streets of town. Each student carries a torch, made from a variety of materials, wire, bamboo or other, they are usually made by the students themselves or their parents and come in all shapes and sizes. They are designed to carry a lit candle on the inside which shines through the cellophane covering, earning them the name of "torch". The mile long march culminated in a meeting in the town square where the several of the grade levels performed skits they had prepared as well as group singing and a gospel message. The teachers did a fantastic job of putting it all together and it was a fun evening that also gave the school a lot of exposure in the community.

Several of the parents of Strong Tower students have requested help with working out issues in their marriage and as a result we will be offering special meetings two Saturdays a month. Please pray for a good turnout and that they would be receptive to the gospel as the only solid foundation for their families.

We thank our gracious Savior and Lord for all He is doing. May His name be magnified without ceasing.
