

Rising Star

News of some of the Lord's work in Northern Peru

Summer is here in force and that is evidenced by both the hot weather and the change in the daily activities at Morning Star. Finish work is underway on the new bathroom added to the first floor where the dining hall used to be. Once completed it will be a dorm room with room for 6-8 more children. There is already a waiting list at the family court for these new spots once they become available. We are thankful for the Lord's faithful provision for this project to move forward and we are looking forward to ministering to those precious children He will send our way.

Some of our high schoolers are attending special summer classes to help them get up to speed academically and we also have an in-house summer curriculum for the pre-school and primary kids each day. Most children that arrive at Morning Star are behind academically and need reinforcement in the basics to be able to do well during the school year, so with the help of some additional volunteers we work daily on reading, writing and math both in groups and individually. We don't forget however that summer should also be a time for FUN and so we set up the seasonal pools in the shade for their daily enjoyment.

We appreciate your prayers on behalf of the Lord's work at Morning Star!
