ONWARD AND UPWARD

Construction moves ahead on the new duplex. We’re anticipating an on-schedule completion by the end of July. The trick is the drying time for the poured concrete, but we’re having nice warm days and that helps.

Our son Bryan has decided to come work for his summer break from college. He’ll be helping with teaching English and maybe even learning some masonry while he’s here.

NEW ARRIVAL

His mother named him Frank Billy, she’s from the jungle of Peru, got a job working as a maid in a home here in Chiclayo, when she was already 8 months pregnant, and Billy was born 6 weeks ago. Last week she went out to run an errand for the lady of the house and never returned. After checking her room, the lady realized all the girls stuff was gone, but she’d left Billy behind..... unfortunately not an unusual scenario for young girls who leave home to hide an unwanted pregnancy, and the just disappear when the time is right. The Lord knows what the future holds for Billy, even though we don’t, in the mean time.....he’ll get plenty of loving care.

You can also be praying for Lizet. (Left) Her mother died giving birth to her 4 years ago. Tom traveled to asses her case up to the mountains northeast of Chiclayo to the state operated orphanage where she has lived since birth,. Lizet needs speech therapy and since her father has no interest in caring for her, needs to be adopted, both things are virtually impossible to obtain for her where she is located, hence the possibility of her coming to Morning Star the first week of June.
